DAY 1: Arrive into BOGOTA

Welcome to Bogota! Your host and a driver will be eagerly waiting to greet you at Bogota Airport. Your host is a local who will fully introduce you to the charmingly unique city Bogota, and will conveniently serve as your local guide, translator and concierge while in Bogota. Following your arrival, we will have a tour through Bogota's colonial neighborhood, La Candelaria, the capital's heart and soul. With its colorful houses, pretty balconies and village-y vibe, it's the city's cultural heart, too, with plenty of museums, the city's main library and a picturesque church on every second street corner. Home to artisans and musicians, it has plenty of bohemian cafes and restaurants, making it ideal for strolling and exploring its streets. Visit the capital's main square, the imposing Plaza Bolívar, with its magnificent Colonial and Republican style buildings, including the stately Palace of Justice, Colombia's Congress and Bogota's Primary cathedral. Enjoy the architectural mix of old adobe houses, churches, and buildings of the Spanish Colonial period, alongside Baroque and art deco styles. We will visit some of Bogota's most important museums such as Botero Museum and the Gold Museum.

DAY 2: Enjoy a BOGOTA LOCAL MARKET and flight to the CENTRAL ANDES

Today we will explore Paloquemao Markets. "Be part of the hustle and bustle of the capital's largest fresh produce market, 'Paloquemao'. Here you will learn about Colombia's rural or 'campesino' culture and enjoy the diversity and sheer abundance of produce grown in Colombia's varied climates. Open seven days a week, this market supplies the ingredients for the majority of the city's best restaurants. You'll have the chance to wander the heaving, colourful stalls, sample this country's vast number of exotic fruits (some of which are unique to Colombia and the Andes) and any other traditional local foods that take your fancy. Enjoy the dazzling display of exotic cut flowers too - one of Colombia's top exports on spectacular display in this sprawling market."

Following the excursion, we have lunch. We will then be transferred to Bogotá airport to catch our flight to Manizales. From here, we will be transferred to the hotel and the afternoon will be at your leisure to do whatever you wish, relax, take in the scenery, or go exploring. Later on, a briefing will be given to us by a local birding guide who will be accompanying us for the next day's birding activity - something you'll be looking forward to if you're a bird lover!

DAY 3: BIRDING at LOS NEVADOS NATIONAL PARK and TERMALES DEL RUIZ

Our third day, which will be dedicated to birding, will start with a morning activity. We will spend our morning searching for all of the high-Andean specialities and endemics that can be found at the hotel's feeders, along the old Manizales road on which the hotel is located on and at the entrance of Los Nevados National Park (the landscape of which is made up of three mountain ranges, dormant volcanoes and hot springs... not to mention the birds!). Here we will witness the unique birds of which include: Andean Condor, Black-chested Buzzard-Eagle, Grey-breasted Mountain Toucan, Rufous-fronted Parakeet, Buffy Helmetcrest, Tawny Antpitta, Golden-breasted Puffleg, Black-thighed Puffleg, Rainbow-bearded Helmetcrest, Crested Cotinga, Sapphire-winged Hummingbird, Shining Sunbeam, Buff-winged Starfrontlet and various mountain tanagers. Breakfast will be provided either before leaving the hotel or during the trail, depending on your requirements.

If you loved your morning of birding, after lunch, we will offer you an option to return to continue birding along the old Manizales – Los Nevados road and forests to see how many more species we can spot, we're sure you won't be disappointed! After dinner back at the hotel, the evening will be at your leisure in the hotel grounds, with full access to the hotel's natural hot springs which you'll have to try out!

DAY 4: Visit RIO BLANCO NATURE RESERVE for more birding

An early start to the day will involve us being transferred to the Rio Blanco Nature Reserve, located just above Manizales (1hr 30mins). It will definitely be worth the early start, believe us! This drive from the hotel will take us to one of the world's best birding sites – not only because of its size or wonderfully conserved Andean forests, 380 or so recorded species, but because for the past number of years, the reserve's keeper has been feeding and coaxing some of the world's most difficult bird genus to see – the Antpittas. These skulking birds that look like balls on two sticks are terrestrial forest birds, normally making good sightings a rarity. Thanks to the keeper's (Carlos Mario) work, however, it's possible to experience almost daily sightings of these wonderful and charismatic birds that will silently hop out of the undergrowth as soon as they hear his voice. During this morning we'll be visiting the various Antpitta feeders and with a little patience we may be able to see the vulnerable and endemic Brown-banded Antpitta, Bi-coloured Antpitta, Slate-crowned Antpitta, the more common Chestnut-crowned Antpitta and less common Chestnut-naped Antpitta. In total there are 7 species of Antpitta found in the reserve, an astounding number and testament to what a special place this is.

After lunch at the reserve, where we'll be able to sight many hummers and flower piercers at the feeders, you can either have the choice to relax at the lodge and look for crab foxes as they appear out of the forest or go for a bit more birding. Walk along the reserve's roads looking for the large Black-billed Mountain-Toucan, Crimson-mantled Woodpecker and the pretty Cinnamon Flycatcher, sallying for insects above the road. Various species of the Tangara genus will be passing by in mixed flocks but special attention will be paid to the uncommon and local Red-Hooded Tanager, the lush Grass-green Tanager and emblematic Rufous-crowned Tody-Flycatcher. We will also be on the lookout for the local and uncommon Scaly-naped Parrot and strikingly coloured Rusty-faced Parrot.

There will be the opportunity to have lunch at the airport in Bogota if you require it. After our flight, there will be a private boat transfer up the mighty Amazon itself, from Leticia airport to Puerto Nariño – a tiny village in the depths of the Amazon and an ideal peaceful nature retreat which was also Colombia's first sustainable tourism destination (2 hrs). Upon arrival, we check into our hotel.

An early morning walk (40 mins) will take us to Fundacion Maikuchiga ran by Dr. Sara Bennett and the local community of Mocagua. Fundacion Maikuchiga works with captured primates from the illegal animal trade and those who have also been brought up in captivity. At the centre, primates are lovingly nurtured back to health for their eventual return to their native habitat. After a brief introduction to the programme, we will walk through secondary forest looking for: the common Squirrel Monkey, tiny Pygmy Marmoset, beautiful Yellow-handed Titi, Black-mantled Tamarin and Spix's Night Monkey. After this location, we will take a trip up the River Matamata which borders the national park of Amacayacu to look for a trail to go into some more primary vegetation where we'll be on the look out for the enigmatic Monk Saki monkey. Howler sightings are also possible.

A packed lunch will be provided for you and after lunch we will take part in an afternoon birding and wildlife watching session during our return from the Fundacion. We will then return to Puerto Nariño and observe the legendary Amazonian sunset over the great river, which will be magnificent! In addition, making this trip even more cultural, we will meet with a local Tikuna indigneous group (Cocama and Yagua dialects) and get to know the community. A packed lunch will be provided for you at Lake Tarapoto. The afternoon at Tarapoto oxbow lake will consist of searching for Pink and Grey River Dolphins, freshwater 'Charapa' turtles, various species of primate and other mammals along with hundreds of species of bird. Furthermore, walking a trail to the lake's local community looking for the legendary Ceiba tree (rubber tree) and local medicinal plants will also be in the afternoon's agenda. This Hato is a fully working cattle ranch with a focus on conservation. Today, a traditional 'a la Llanera' lunch will be served at the Hato residency of Juan Solito.

Following on from lunch, we will then be given the opportunity to embark on a short boat trip or 4x4 Safari in the reserve whilst

WHEN TO GO

- Due to Colombia being on the equator, temperatures are fairly stable at 24°C throughout the year, getting cooler if you move higher inland.
- Colombia wet seasons vary depending on where you are in the country. In the North, there are 2 rainy seasons, between April and June, and between September and November. However in the South the rain is more constant but the showers never last that long.
- As for when to avoid the tourists! The busy tourism season tends to be between December to February and Easter Week (the week before Easter weekend).

Day 14: Eastern Andes Birding Tour

There is great birding available in and around Bogota (maximum 1hr 30mins by car to the farthest locations) that will rack up all of the Eastern Andes endemics and rarities which are isolated to this range, such as the elusive Bogota Rail, rare and local Green-bearded Helmetcrest, stunning but difficult to spot Brown-breasted Parakeet amongst many, many others. Ventures to the western slope that leads down the Middle Magdalena River Valley will also pick up a number of Magdalena Medio specialities and endemics such as Indigo-capped and Ruby-topaz Hummingbird.

Day 15: The Lost City Trek

Trek to one of the world's great archaeological sites that literally emerges from the jungle after a strenuous 2-day hike through the Sierra Nevada de Santa Marta foothills – recently declared as the most irreplaceable natural reserve on Earth. Pioneer Expeditions has adapted this excellent trek to allow for more comfort and an optional private beach hotel stay to relax tired muscles. Treks can be done in either 4 or 5 days.

Day 16: El Dorado Birding & Northern Colombia Birding Trail

Birding at El Dorado lodge, located high up in the San Lorenzo ridge in the Sierra Nevada de Santa Marta is a dream come true for avid birders. In a 2 to 3-day stay it is not uncommon to rack up over 20 endemic species of the 24 that inhabits this isolated range. With one of the world's highest concentrations of endemic biodiversity, these mountains and the reserve lodge - with the new addition of the stunning Kogihabs - has taken this already excellent accommodation to another level. For those wanting to stay a little longer, the recently launched Northern Colombia Birding Trail – an initiative funded and led by the USAID and National Audubon Society in partnership with Colombia's Calidris NGO, has led to the formalisation of one of Colombia's best birding trails, where we get to visit dry forest, mangroves, desert scrub, humid tropical forest and two isolated ranges and a number of national parks and flora and fauna sanctuaries full of recently described endemics, some of which are new to science.

Day 17: San Jose del Guaviare

Not yet found on the international tourism map, Pioneer expeditions is very proud to be pushing what will become one of Colombia's most fascinating destinations. Surrounded by Amazonian forest on the divide between Colombia's 'Eastern Plains' or tropical savannah ecosystem and Amazon basin, San Jose del Guaviare has it all. Amazing diversity of flora and fauna, typical of both of these immense bio-regions; indigenous reserves that have so much to offer where the visitor can interact and learn about their ways of life; ancient rock formations that are part of the Guyana Shield and that leave visitors wondering about their creation and maybe most remarkable of all – ancient rock art that dates back to over 20,000 years ago that emerges from the jungle. The discoveries here are just beginning.

Day 18: PNN Los Nevados trek

Here we can disappear into the high-Andes on a full-service mountain trek or expedition, depending on your ability level. PNN Los Nevados is one of Colombia's most famous and most beautiful national parks, home to 8 volcanic structures. We will climb through pristine Andean cloud forest through various ecosystems as the oxygen slowly dissipates leaving the paramo, an ecosystem so unique it is only found in 4 countries on Earth, of which Colombia is home to over 50% of. Glacier-capped volcanoes and plateau lakes await in a landscape that has to be seen to be believed.
